

OVERVIEW

Why settle for ordinary when your implementation can be epic?

Epic is the choice for a partner when looking to implement Oracle's JD Edwards EnterpriseOne software - whether you are implementing for the first time, optimizing a prior installation, or expanding the use of your software by adding features and functionality. No other organization is better equipped to position your investment for the future. Our depth of experience and focus on project management coupled with our true desire to see you succeed makes for an Epic experience.

Implementation Expertise

Epic does it right the first time! Our resources and management expertise will save you significant IT costs during and after your implementation to assure you the lowest total cost of success.

Utilizing our proven implementation methodology as its foundation, Epic streamlines the process by planning and executing only those tasks relevant to your needs.

We know what works and, equally important, what doesn't, so your project gets off on the right foot from the beginning.

Project Management is the Key

At Epic, we are fanatical about project management. From our experience any successful implementation requires strong project management - and often from more than one manager. Because we share in our clients' commitment to a successful project, an Epic Delivery manager is assigned to each engagement - one who consistently plans, controls, and tracks the project in order to assure success and minimize risk.

Extensive, Focused Experience

The creation of Epic represents the culmination of years of extensive and focused JD Edwards expertise across the entire application suite. Our staff hails from several successful and highly-respected consulting organizations and has assisted hundreds of organizations with JD Edwards implementations. We also know what you need to: minimize your IT spending, optimize your operations, and utilize software functionality "out of the box."

Let our experience guarantee your success!
